Inaugural Social Justice and Equity in Action Symposium

Featured Speaker: Dr. Geneva Gay

This professional development opportunity is for educators, educational leaders, and educational stakeholders interested in examining and developing policies, practices, structures, and systems for all in their school community; specifically for culturally and linguistically diverse students.

Participants will:

- Analyze the extent to which their school community supports and embraces equity and social justice.
- Create an initial plan for addressing equity in their classrooms, schools, and districts.

Target Audience: All educators, superintendents, assistant superintendents, coordinators, and community-based student support staff

Dr. Geneva Gay, the keynote speaker, is a Professor of Education at the University of Washington-Seattle. Dr. Gay is nationally and internationally known for her scholarship in multicultural education, particularly as it relates to curriculum design, staff development, classroom instruction and intersections of culture, race, ethnicity, teaching and learning.
