

CREC LEADERSHIP NETWORK

NETWORK OPPORTUNITIES FOR SCHOOL LEADERS

The CREC LEADERSHIP NETWORK is designed to provide leaders with the most current information on best practices and to learn from colleagues. In addition to topics on Scientific Research-Based Intervention (SRBI) (Strand A), this year we have expanded learning opportunities to include topics on Special Education Student Achievement (Strand B).

Each Strand offers three (3) network meetings in addition to our “kick off” on September 27, 2011 with Dr. Douglas Fuchs, a nationally recognized expert on how SRBI and the Early Intervention process intersect. Dr. Fuchs will present on Primary, Secondary and Tertiary Prevention in a “Smart SRBI” Framework. Districts may choose to enroll in either SRBI (Strand A) or the Special Education Student Achievement (Strand B) or both.

Dr. Douglas Fuchs Keynote Speaker

Presents:

Primary, Secondary and Tertiary Prevention in a “Smart SRBI” Framework

September 27, 2011
8:00 am to 12:30 pm

Dr. Douglas Fuchs is a nationally renowned professor and researcher at Peabody College of Vanderbilt University. Currently, his primary research interests include intervention research to develop instructional programs and assessment procedures to use with students at risk for school failure.
